February 2015

LOVE MAKES THE WORLD GO ROUND

I can't believe it's already February! Doesn't look like groundhog Punxsutawney Phil thinks that Spring is right around the corner, so get ready for 6 more weeks of winter. But what does this groundhog really know?? According to writer Phil Edwards, "Phil lacks any formal education in meteorology, uses unorthodox methods to obtain his predictions, and has yet to publish in any peer-reviewed journals!" So, while you're shoveling snow, dream about and plan where you want to escape to during your vacation this year. Browse some of our 2015 TRIPS below, and pick out your next exciting adventure!

Have you visited our Ciao Bella blog lately?

"Travel insurance. Do I really need it?" is a question we get asked over and over again. Take a look at Travel Insurance 101 to find the answers.

Many AdventureWomen guests are talented photographers. This month we are featuring a wonderful slideshow called The People of Nepal, with beautiful photographs by Pam Regimbal, a participant on last November's Nepal Trek in the Himalayas.

With Valentine's Day fast approaching, we did a little research on some of the diverse and fascinating "love" traditions in some of the countries we are traveling in this year. Hope you enjoy reading how Love Makes the World Go Round.

WE LOVE YOU and wish everyone a fun-filled month, whether (weather) it is still Winter in your neck of the woods, or Spring is around the corner!
